citizen journalism to address intercultural and interfaith dialogue

Project no.: 2022-2-IE01-KA220-YOU-000099163

ABOUT US

CO-EXIST aims to raise awareness about the importance of interfaith dialogue in promoting the peaceful co-existence of different faith and religious groups across Europe.

It is designed to support young people to engage in citizen journalism, and to plan publications that will provide counter-narratives to some of the disinformation and misinformation that is online, related to different faiths and religious groups and which aim to incite hate and prejudice.

CO-EXIST partners will deliver a 50-hour citizen media curriculum to 60 young people across the consortium; support these young people to engage in interfaith dialogue and to produce 300 pieces of media content that provides accurate counter-narratives about different faiths to address disinformation online; engage 12 youth workers in a transnational piloting of the in-service training programme in Greece, and reach a further 30 through local piloting, and to develop a Digital Newsroom platform.

THE DELIVERABLES

The results targeted at young people:

- Citizen Media Curriculum with modules on: Citizen journalism; Intercultural and Interfaith Dialogue; Interviewing and Writing; Video Production and Editing, and Podcasts Audio Interviews.
- Toolkit of WebQuest resources that will support young people to engage in interfaith dialogue.

Our Latest News

VIRTUAL MEETINGS

In the virtual meetings that have taken place so far, partners have been working to unpack and plan our first tasks in the project.

Throughout these meetings, we have been able to plan the content for the Citizen Journalism curriculum for young people, to develop the WebQuests, and to plan how we can best support youth workers with training to deliver our local citizen journalism projects!

NEXT STEPS

Mark your calendars! The consortium for the CO-EXIST project will meet in Madrid on April 18th. This meeting will give all partners the opportunity to meet in person and to test the prototype materials that we have developed so far in the Citizen Journalism curriculum for young people and the in-service training for youth workers. It will also give us the chance to meet one another in person for the first time!
