MULTIPLIER EVENTS: SHARING THE IMPACT LOCALLY

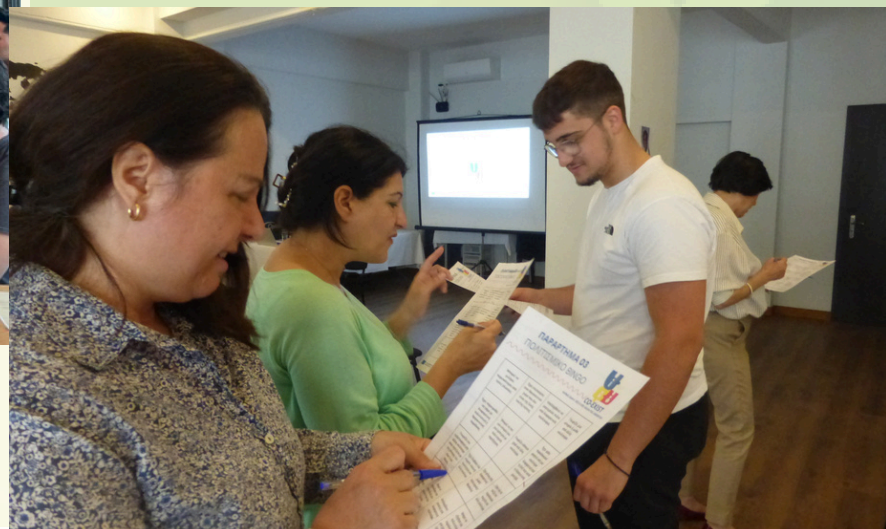

All CO-EXIST partners organised local Multiplier Events to disseminate the results of the project, reach new stakeholders, and promote the tools and educational resources developed.

From Ireland to Belgium, Germany to Greece, Italy to Spain, local events welcomed educators, youth workers, NGO professionals, students, and socially active citizens. The sessions featured presentations of project results, hands-on activities, media demonstrations, and heartfelt discussions on social inclusion, cultural identity, and mutual understanding.

Some highlights included:

- Interactive workshops on bias and media literacy
- Storytelling sessions with youth journalists
- Challenge-Based Learning experiences
- Open exchanges on cultural integration and everyday intercultural encounters

Participants praised the project's relevance and practical value, expressing strong interest in integrating the resources into their own work with young people.

PROJECT RESULTS: A TOOLKIT FOR ACTION

Throughout its duration, CO-EXIST delivered a rich set of educational materials, now freely available online:

- ✓ Citizen Media Curriculum – Equipping young people with the skills to express their voices through media
- ✓ In-Service Training Framework – A training model for youth workers to support intercultural learning and interfaith dialogue
- ✓ WebQuests for Interfaith Dialogue – Interactive, digital learning tools for critical exploration and discussion
- ✓ Media Moderation Modules – Activities to combat bias and fake news online

All materials are available in multiple languages and adaptable to different educational contexts.

A Project with Long-Lasting Impact

The CO-EXIST project leaves behind a growing community of educators and youth who are more aware, more connected, and more equipped to build bridges across differences.

Whether used in a classroom, a youth centre, or an online space, the tools and practices developed are already contributing to a more inclusive and tolerant Europe.

Thank you for following our journey. Stay connected with us through our website and social media, and continue to empower youth voices for a more just and peaceful world.
